Your online source for new and used directional drilling equipment

Ownership Statement

The purpose of requesting ownership information early in the selling process is to ensure the transaction goes as smoothly and as quickly as possible. Being up front with who has financial interest in your listing and readily providing payout information ensures the fastest possible payment for your equipment. HDD Broker, as agent, can handle all aspects of the payout, communicating with your bank or leasing company regarding the payouts and transferring the funds directly to them at the time of purchase.

There is no need to provide lien disclosure details or bank information at this time, however should you choose to do so, it will be kept strictly confidential.

Should the circumstances of the ownership change, please let us know as soon as possible.
